General Comments

- Laws are adversary, no 'skennen'. If an individual makes a complaint, the complainant knows who they are and makes the person making the complaint the 'bad guy'
- Complaints on applicants applying for land allotment or cabin sites in Tioweroton are accepted when signed, but the applicant does not know.
- Not all organizations are open to employees making complaints or making their opinion known regarding membership. Not clear, what will happen if they make a valid complaint.

Rotinonhsonnión:we

Correction:

Rotinonhsionni'ón:we

Page 6, grammatical error (are in both KKL/KRL)

"lah onkwehón:we té:ken"

"lah Onkwehón:we té:ken" means that the "It is not the/a onkwehón:we (who did something)".

Context: "lah onkwehón:we té:ken" broke the law, means that "The onkwehón:we person" didn't break the law. It does not mean in any way that 'a non-native broke the law'.

Correction:

lah teionkwehón:we/tehronkwehón:we mean:

She/he is not onkwehón:we

She/he is a non-native

A non-native
